

June 25, 2007

Natural Factors

For over fifty years, Natural Factors has been dedicated to producing safe and effective dietary supplements and herbal formulas.

Natural Factors reputation for safe and effective dietary supplements requires a great deal of diligence, testing and investment in quality control. All Natural Factors products comply with the Good Manufacturing Practices, (GMP) specified by the Canadian government, considered to be among the world's most stringent guidelines for supplement manufacturing. All raw material are thoroughly tested and product are then tested batch-by-batch throughout the manufacturing process.

Our Quality Control Department and Laboratory are involved in every step of our product development, pre-production and post-production testing. This is a crucial part of assuring that our customers receive only the purest, most effective and reliable health products. We have invested in extensive, university-based research and clinical trials to ensure that our products give consumers the health results they are seeking.

Our mission is to provide the highest quality nutritional products that support wellness and create better health to people around the globe.

Natural Factors-Making a Healthy Difference™